TESTIMONIALS

"There is a reason that Angela Maiers is recognized as one of today's most influential education thought leaders: her work resonates with teachers, school leaders, students and parents alike... To say that Maiers blew the E 2 crowd away would be an understatement."

Anthony Salcito - VP Education, Microsoft Corporation

"Wow. She was just awesome to hear speak. Really authentic. She's exactly what we need. I love that she came to our HR community to show us know we can be instrumental in making people believe that they matter to our organization. We need this. Her message is simple but very powerful."

Lilitia Bailey - Chief Human Resources Officer, Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center

"Angela Maiers' work through Choose2Matter is important and highly effective in ensuring children do not feel insignificant within that insecurity. Her empowerment of children gives us hope for a powerful future."

Lord Jim Knight - CEO of TES, Member of the British Parliament

POPULAR PROGRAMS

Angela's keynotes are inspiring, uplifting, empowering, and actionable. What she delivers is customized and tailored specifically to the interests, needs, and goals of the audience.

MATTERING IS THE AGENDA

When we think of people who made the biggest impact in our lives, it was the ones who most sincerely believed in us and who let us know through their words and actions that we mattered.

Everyone in our lives needs that same validation. Mattering is a universal human need. We cannot capture the minds of our students, colleagues, employees, and customers if we do not first capture their hearts.

You matter is not a statement of inspiration. It is not a project, strategy, event, or item on the agenda. It is the agenda. Mattering is not something that just happens to you. It is something you actively pursue.

This workshop will leave you with the knowledge, habits, and attitudes you need to transform the culture in your organization into one in which everyone knows they matter.

THE PROMISE AND PRACTICE OF HOPE

In these times of unprecedented challenge and change where we're bombarded with negative news that overwhelms the spirit, how can we build back our spirits and resilience? One word: HOPE.

Hope strengthens our capacity to teach, learn, and give our best response to the challenges confronting us. It helps us find creativity, solidarity, and courage to act. Hope is an essential component to our recovery and renewal.

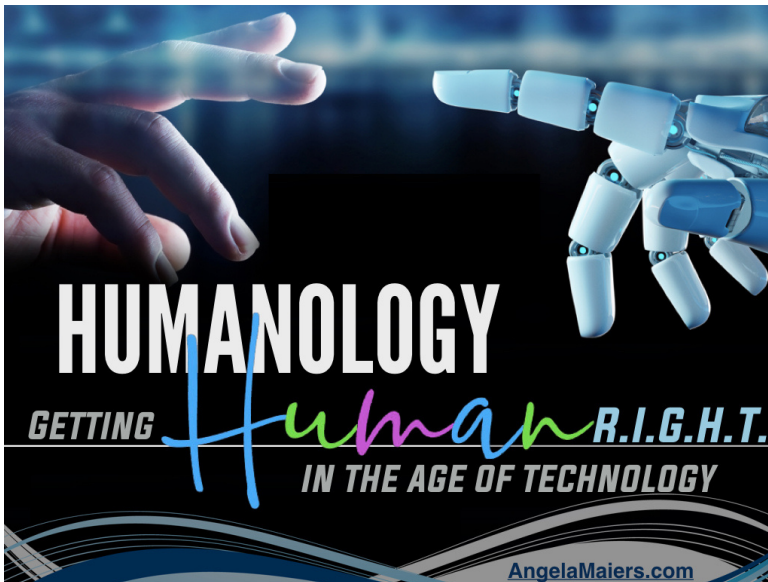

We invite you to join Angela Maiers as she connects the language, theory, and science of hope to our daily work and lives and discusses strategies for building and sustaining positive and flourishing visions for the future.

GETTING HUMAN RIGHT

Technology is shaping the future, but it will be HUMANOLOGY that will determine how technology is used to transform the way we learn, work and live. To stay ahead of an increasingly digital and automated world, we need to start cultivating our most human abilities and put a premium on our uniquely human skills: judgment, vision, wisdom, creativity, and resilience.

There's nothing soft about these skills, and we can't afford to leave them to chance. Harnessing wide-ranging research on human evolution, biology, and psychology, Angela shares a framework for illustrating and understanding what is possible when we blend our technology with our humanity and work and when we work together toward making the world a better place to be human for us and for our children.

REAL SKILLS

Curiosity, courage, creativity, agility, and adaptability are not fluffy, nice-to-have value-adds. They're hard-won and rigorously maintained abilities that are better referred to as "power skills" so vital to personal and organizational success across and within every field and discipline.

The best part is they are TEACHABLE, and we have the data to prove that not only can they be taught at every level, they must. Come explore with me what that looks like, sounds like, and feels like in your organization.
